Experience, Following Battle During War Between States, Is Without a Parallel.

IS Without a Parallel.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Harrisonburg, Va., September 28.—
Captain John H. Rolston, seventy-nine years old, a widely known farmer and Confederate veteran of Rockingham county, died this morning at 3 o'clock at his home, several miles north of Harrisonburg, in the Chrisman neighborhood. For several years he had been an invalid from paralysis and other aliments.

His e-perience in the Civil War is without a parallel. Shot through both lungs, he was left for dead on one of the bloodiest fields of the war. A Northern soldier passing lifted his head on a log and left him. Later the captain showed signs of life, just as the scores and scores of bedies were hurried off for burial. He was taken from' the corpses and sent to a hospital.

The report of his death was sent to dinner recors of the verdict and fixed the hours returned the verdict A motion for a new trial was made at once, and the just and the prosecution.

and while the minister was paying tribute to the supposed dead captain, a galloping horse stopped at the gate, a rider jumped to the ground and rushed nto the house. And Captain Rolston had arrived in time to attend his own funeral.

In recent years the story has gone the rounds with many modifications, but Captain Rolston, himself a good story teller, never tired teiling the story of his wonderful experience. The family now has a clipping from the old Rockingham Register of fifty years ago telling the unusual story in detail, Captain Rolston's first wife was Miss Hester Swank. His second wife, who

But for one or two incidents connected with his arrest, Priddy would have been that down as a common hobo.
